ELKS TAKE ON ENTHUSIASM

SAM SCHIENBERG MAKES ADDRESS AT MEETING LAST NIGHT AND CREATED ENTHUSIASM.

Who in Ada would not like to see the Elk's club, most wonderful beneficial fraternity, transcend to its height of glory and become as useful and appreciated an organization to Ada as the same clubs are to other respective cities in the north and east and west? This very thing is about to happen here in Ada. At an important meeting last night a new officer to head the Elks for the coming year was selected, as were several other new officers, to fill other vacant offices. Brother Ed Haraway officiated in installing the new officers in a most beautiful but solemn ceremony. No sooner had the new officers been seated—the whole house seemed to take on new life. The dust of negligence began to simmer and the real polished metal of true Elkdom glistened through. The heart of every Elk quickened as the new ambition and pep became instilled in their veins—at last we were coming to life.

The following brothers were chosen for officers: J. C. Gowing, R. L. Weber, J. T. Roff and Joe Allen; Ed Haraway treasurer, C. J. Warren, W. B. Coffman and John Chapman as trustees. The highest honors were bestowed on Sam Schienberg as Exalted Ruler for the year.

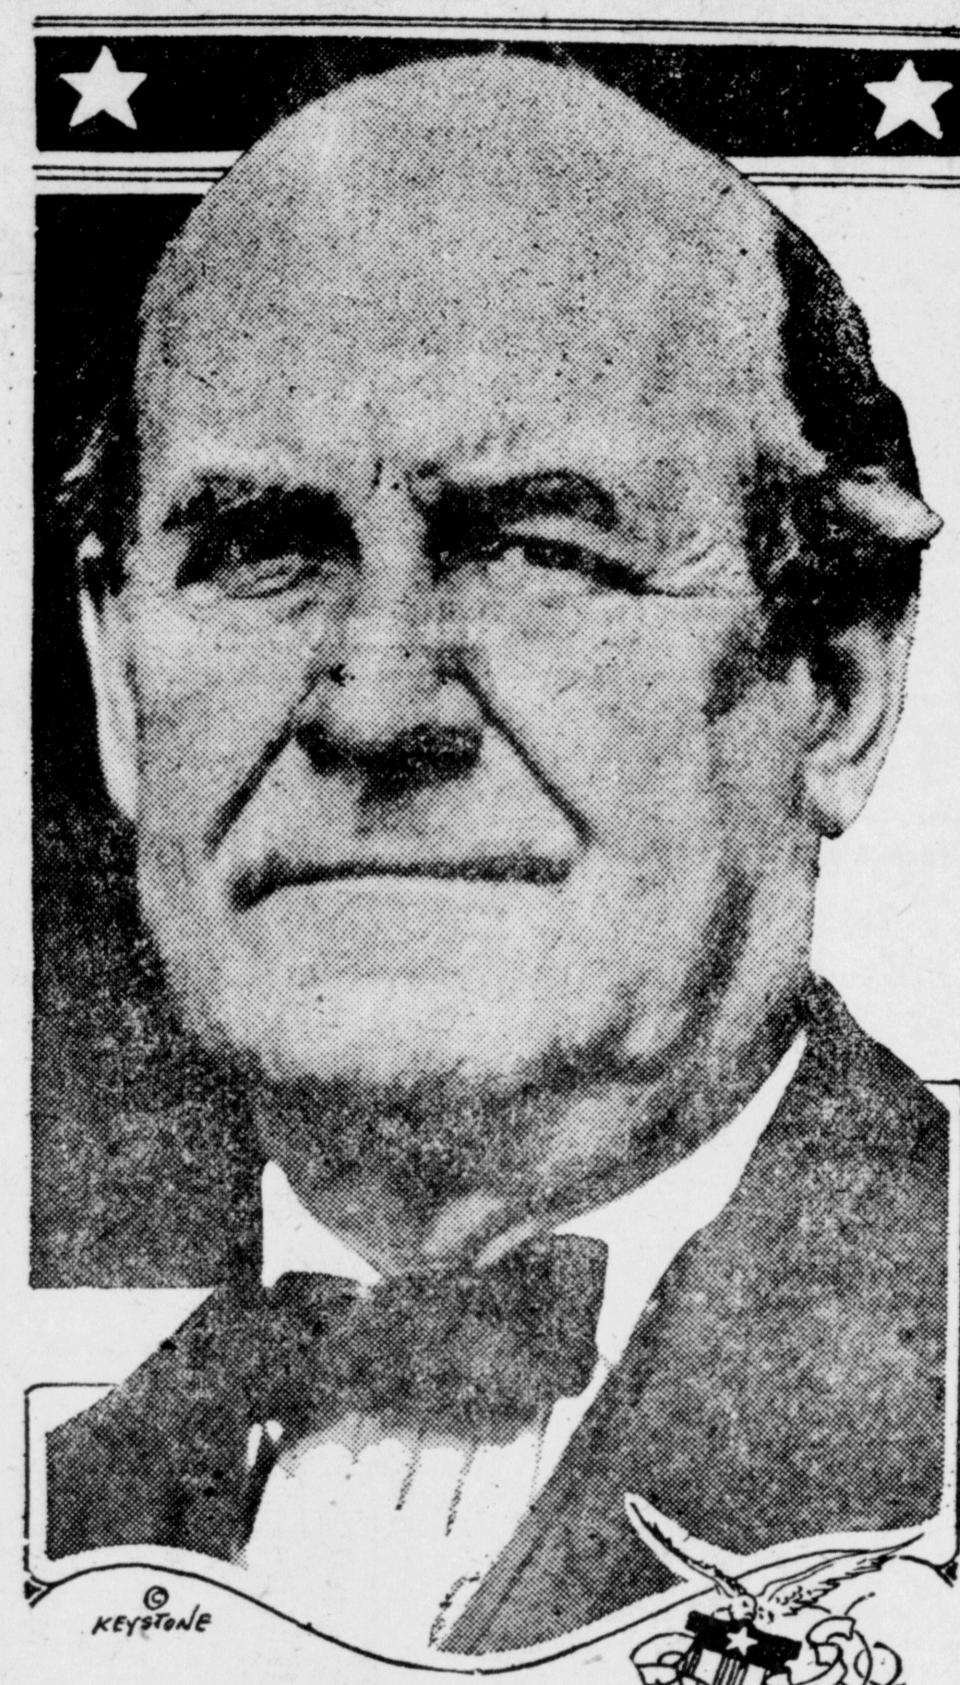

A brief address from the new and young Exalted Ruler thanking the brothers profoundly for the trust and honor given him contained a few pointers for the future administration. Following briefly are the remarks:

"My Brothers: The words of Brother Haraway have moved me deeply to the very heart. I thank you for the great honor and trust you have so graciously bestowed upon me. I am not unmindful of the necessary and difficult task that lies before me. I realize only too well the conditions we have allowed ourselves to tolerate—but I realize also that the Ada crowd is far too live to allow this club to die a natural death, and from now on I pledge my best efforts and with the aid of all the brothers we will instill new life, new vigor and pep into the lodge and make it to the Ada citizenship what other Elk clubs are to their respective towns."

"Here are a few of my plans for our future and I give these simply as pointers. We cannot jump bodily into reconstruction; we must take it gradually. First, by the power vested, I demand that such gambling games as poker, blackjack and others be stopped. From tonight on such games will not be tolerated in these rooms. The card games such as are played in your homes or the homes of other men are the only kind permitted in these rooms hereafter. Further, the lights go out in this hall at eleven o'clock every night except party nights. These club rooms should be open to the families of Elks as well as Elks, but heretofore a lady seemed out of place, except on special rare occasions, to enjoy socials while the men folks were not present. So from henceforth Thursday nights will be open house to the families of all Elks. I shall appoint a live entertainment committee whose duty will be to provide suitable entertainment. I do not want to be bothered with what they do. I have the utmost confidence in the brothers I have in mind to put on real, wholesome and fine entertainments and so varied as to cover the likes of each individual Elk."

"I want to see a cafeteria established in these rooms where noonday luncheons can be served to Elks, their friends and other organizations. The town needs this kind of a meeting place and we have the exact quarters for it."

"My brothers, do you realize even beyond what your obligations teach you how important, how fine, how really American the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of America are? Do you know that the Elks is the only organization ever called into partnership with the United States government? Just recently Past Exalted Ruler Haraway informed me that the United States government has turned over to the Elks the work of aiding those disabled soldiers, sailors and marines of the world war, who were disabled not in the line of duty or who served with the allied armies. I now have on my desk some literature giving figures and facts. Already the Elks have loaned $400,000 to 25,000 disabled men for vocational training. Truly no finer spirit of Americanization cou'd be otherwise expressed. "Last but not least, I want every brother and officer to aid me not only physically but I invite your suggestion. Our job will be hard at first—it will require painstaking efforts and hard thinking, but finally our efforts will be repaid a thousandfold in the joy of seeing Ada Lodge No. 1275 once more on its feet and so solidly planted that nothing can ever weaken the footings, planted in a beautiful building, our own home—that will be a mark of appreciation to our citizenship. I thank you."

The following brothers were appointed on the entertainment committee: J. C. Gowing, R. L. Weber, and Joe Allen. Immediately after the session they were busy outlining the entertainment programs. To start off with they announced that every Thursday night will be open house for Elks and their families. Every other Thursday night there will be a dance for Elks and their families. About once every other month there will be a big Elk's dance for Elks, their families and friends. On regular open house Thursday nights there will be entertainments and refreshments. The ladies can play cards, hear good music, or plan to have their own entertainments. It is also planned to give athletic entertainments in conjunction with the American Legion.

THE COMMONER HIMSELF

Make the Fifth the Fourth

Nobody seems to know just what the program is for celebrating the Fourth of July here this year, since the day falls on Sunday, but it seems to the News that the appropriate thing to do would be to close the town and the Normal school tighter than a jug and take a day off Monday the 5th.

There is too much of a tendency since the war closed to subdue the spirit of patriotism and scramble for the almighty dollar. There is too much work and not enough play. There is too much praying and not enough thanksgiving. People frown too much and smile too little.

It's time to stop in our pell-mell rush for fame and fortune and take stock of ourselves. If there is to be no more surcease from life's daily, monotonous grind we had as well stop the process of pro-creation, as future generations will have nothing much to live for.

DISASTER IS NOT VERY FAR AHEAD

TRANSPORTATION BREAKDOWN IS SEEN AS FORERUNNER OF HARD TIMES AND MISERY
NEXT WINTER.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 29.—Operations of the railroads of the country, "as a unit," as a means of relieving the present transportation difficulties, was suggested today by William B. Colver, of the federal trade commission, in an address before the Washington Ad Club.

Mr. Colver predicted that a continuation of the present situation would mean "unfold suffering and industrial shut-down, next winter." Hundreds of millions of dollars are tied up now in merchandise in sidetracked cars, he said, keeping from the market badly needed capital. Only one tenth of the needed coal for next winter's supply has been moved to the head of the lakes, while the industries in New England are actually closing down now for lack of coal. Farmers are also unable to obtain cars to remove the residue of last year's wheat crop, at a time when the new harvest is coming to market. Already, he declared, there are predictions of $25.00 flour and 25 cent bread. Colver declared that there are plenty of coal cars, but that the roads were unable to get them to the mines, with a result that this month's coal production is far below normal, and miners in spite of high wages formerly received are seeing their families go hungry.

Too many serge suits and not enough overalls.
Too much decolleté and not enough aprons.
Too many satin-upholstered luminaires and not enough cows.
Too many customers and not enough producers.
Too much oil stock and not enough savings accounts.

Too much envy of the results of hard work and oto little desire to emulate it.
Too many short cuts to wealth and too few willing to pay the price.

Too much of the spirit of "get while the getting is good" and not enough old-fashioned Christianity.

Too much discontent that vents itself in mere complaining and too little real effort to remedy conditions.

Too much class consciousness and too little common democracy and love of humanity.

The Wilson Forces Appear to Be in Control As Big Democrat Convention Gets Down to Business on the Second Day of Session at Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The national convention program for today was as follows:

Convention met at 1 o'clock, p. m. (3:00 p. m. local time). Prayer by the Reverend Frank Nichols, Bishop of the Episcopal church, California diocese.

Address by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, permanent chairman.

Report of the committee on rules and order of business.

Next in order, report of resolutions committee, which is holding hearings and is not ready to report the platform.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Administration supporters strengthened their hold on the democrat national convention through a series of victories by the credentials committee, which decided three hotly fought contests, one of these was the denial of a seat in the convention to Senator Reed, of Missouri.

The Clark Howell delegates in Georgia, pledged to Attorney General Palmer, also were seated. The credentials committee, however overruled the national committee in the Oregon case, where it seated R. R. Turner and John L. Shuylerman, giving each one half a vote.

Actual preparations of the democrat platform, delegated last night to a sub committee of nine under administration leadership, waited today while the platform committee of 53 kept open house to hear final suggestions and arguments from many sources. Labor, liquor, and the Irish questions, all subjects of disagreement among party leaders, were up for debate at committed public hearings. The committee on rules at the convention, were discussing the knotty question of whether a state delegation could be found by the unit rule.

The New York delegation came to the convention with its 90 votes bound for such a rule, passed at a state convention, over the protest of several of its members, who are renewing their fight here against the rule.

over any candidate unsatisfactory to them.

Inevitably this situation lead to discussions of dark horses, because no one knew if the White House would favor any party candidate. Leaders in the dark horse deadlock are vice president Marshall, Chairman Cummings and John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain.

Delegates are expectant as to whether nominating speeches would be reached today or tonight. The committee on rules decided that nominating peches may be delivered in advance of the adoption of the platform, but that balloting should not begin until the declaration of principals had been decided upon. If there is no extended discussions of the credentials and rules committee reports, the convention will reach that stage in the proceedings where nominating speeches would be in order. The big speech of today's session was that of Senator Robinson, another staunch administration supporter, chose for permanent chairman of the convention, and administration men at the head of their committees, was the lineup brought out of what promised to be a contest.

The threatened administration fight, so far as it related to the organization of the convention machinery was concerned, collapsed without a showing. A dramatic situation prevailed yesterday when a portrait of President Wilson was unveiled in the great auditorium to let loose a storm of tributes and approbations from the administration friends. On the floor there seemed little chance at that time for those who had set themselves in opposition.

By the Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—On the first division in the platform committee on an angle of the platform fight today, the Bryan dry forces were forced, over their protests, by a vote of 27 to 25, to present their case further in the committee hearing.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, permanent chairman, of the democrat national convention, in his speech today assailed the republican party for its Chicago platform, for the disposal of large sums of money during preconvention contests, and particularly attacked the republican senators who fought the ratification of the treaty with the League of Nations covenant.

"Tested by every standard which voters usually apply," he said, "the democratic party is entitled to victory in the coming campaign. Comparison of the democrat and republican records, contrast of political policies and of party leadership justifies the belief that the republican party will be driven from power in both branches of congress and that complete control of the government will be restored to the democratic party in the November election, because that party has earned the public's confidence."

The McAdoo people came into the convention floor today for the first time with a working organization, including a floor leader and a representative from practically every state delegation. Their problem was to find enough supporters to round up a two thirds vote.

Cox and Palmer forces were active rounding up a showing for the opening ballot.

Administration forces were in full control of the convention machinery, and there seemed little doubt of their power to guide the adoption of the platform entirely satisfactory to them. They were also apparently in a position to exercise a veto power

BUSINESS GETS TO SOUND BASIS

TENTH DISTRICT FEDERAL RESERVE BANK SAY THINGS ARE NOW GETTING TO NORMAL.

By the Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28.—Reports on various lines of business activity for the month of May, reaching the Tenth District federal reserve bank, indicate a tendency to settle down to a readjustment of a firm and dependable basis, according to the May Bulletin of the Federal Reserve Bank.

"It is recognized," the monthly report says, "in this important producing district that, while a slight improvement is noted, the transportation facilities are lamentably inadequate for the marketing of the products of the farms, ranges, mines, oil fields and factories, as well as for proper distribution of merchandise. And as a result there is an added strain to the already greatly expanded credits, a slackening or industrial effort and prolongation of inflated prices on foods and commodities—conditions seriously affecting the economic situation which it is felt, should have been adjusted months ago."

"While it is conceded that the peak of prices has practically all commodities has been passed and that although declines are not being registered as rapidly as the public desires, they will recede only as conditions become more settled and as production of a larger output of necessary goods is realized. Evidences that the public is curbing to some extent its wasteful extravagances in spending and that speculation and ill-advised investment is on the wane, also are observed."

The industrial situation, according to the reports, is somewhat easier than for several months. The big feature of the situation at this time is the effort being put forth to obtain sufficient help for harvesting the 1920 wheat crop which promises to be the third largest crop in history.

The demands for loans continue strong, with rates advancing. There appears to be, however, a gradual elimination of loans for non-essentials and an effort toward liquidation of so-called frozen loans.

"It is hoped that the banks of this district will confine, so far as possible, their credit advances to the need of the agricultural and live-stock interest.

The mercantile trade through the month of May and the first half of June exhibited a tendency, which is not unusual, to slow down for the summer months, although other factories have been and still are contributing to the unsettled nature of trade conditions.

Wholesalers, particularly of dry goods, men's and women's wear, and millinery, report a tendency on the part of retailers to buy carefully, with the results that their sales reported for May were 10 per cent and in some cases much more than that below the sales in April, though in wholesale drygoods the May sales were up to 50 per cent larger than in the same month last year.

Winter wheat, the reports show, made remarkable improvements in May. Official estimates place the yield for the district at 215,000,000 bushels, 22,000,000 more than the estimate of the bureau of crop estimators on the May basis.

Federal and state employment bureaus and agents are reported as meeting fair success in enlisting harvest help.

The end of May brought encouraging reports as to the corn crop. Planting was reported as practically complete in the south two-thirds of the district.

Reports on oats, rye and barley were favorable, but cotton showed the lowest mark in fifty years. The potato acreage is approximately ten per cent below that of last year, with the crop condition varying from 80 per cent to 90 per cent.

Pastures are reported excellent. A conspicuous feature of the live-stock reports reaching the bank was increased attention to pure bred stock.

Livestock receipts in the markets showed an increase over those of April and about on a parity with those of a year ago. Decreased supplies of fat cattle in early June was responsible for a sharp price advance, the report says.

Strike Situation Better

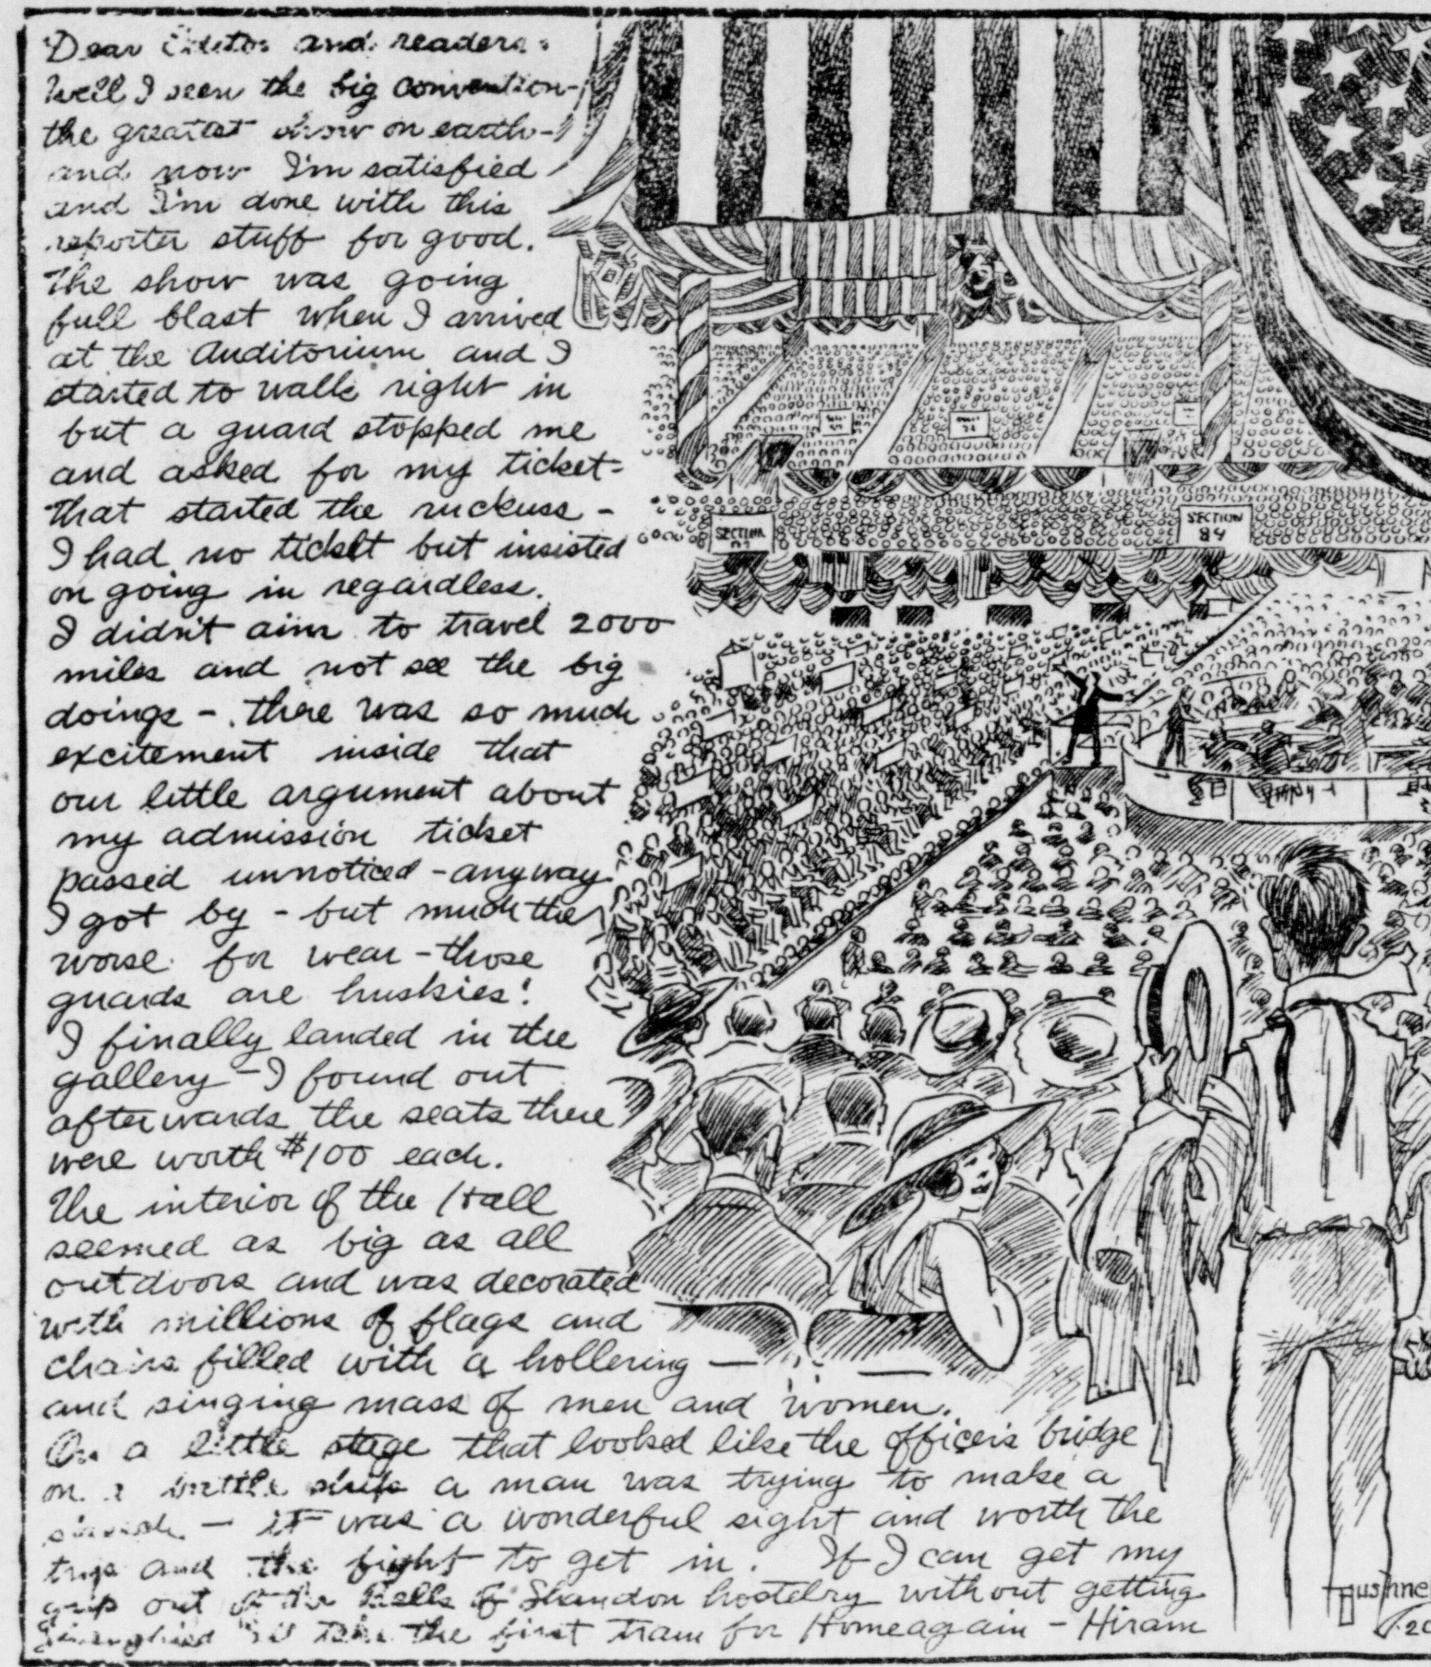

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—General improvement was indicated today in the trainmen's strike situation, according to a statement issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Many of the shopmen who struck Saturday returned and the force is now 91 percent of the maximum. This is the 10th day of the strike. The strikers say they are concentrating on an effort to bring out passenger train men, shopmen, telegraphers and other classes of employment.

Germany Must Accept.

BERLIN, June 28.—Chancellor Konstantin Seehrauer, head of the new German government, read in the Reichstag today the decision of the government program:

HOUSTON TEXAS.—"I was in a terribly run-down condition of health after a siege of ptomaine poisoning, and then the influenza. I could not seem to regain my strength and was really not able to do my housework. Oklahoma Towns With Growing Pains

El Reno

El Reno, Canadian county's seat of government, continues to enjoy its steady growth. Water supply is being increased three million gallons daily. Sewers extended to outlying areas, together with an up-to-date disposal plant. Five business blocks are nearing completion and many are being remodeled. Scores of home builders are waiting for material and labor.

Canadian county ranks among the foremost communities of the southwest in agricultural products, hogs, cattle and dairying. This county held the first free fair in the state. The City of El Reno paid all bills, and since the Free Fair law became effective has stuck to the slogan, "Make Canadian county First." And this year, Fair Park becomes permanent, with all necessary buildings placed by landscape experts—a home for the "Industries that Endure."

El Reno has 11,000 population; 1357 feet above sea level; pure water, a perfect sanitation, every modern equipment that goes to make up a modern home city. Probably no city in the state can boast of more beautiful streets. Native trees have been transplanted, maples, box elders, locust, sycamore and others of lovely foliage occupying miles of parking.

Particular attention has been given to the public schools. Housed in six modern brick buildings, manned by the most efficient corps of teachers obtainable, El Reno offers to those seeking education for their children a clean community, neighborly neighbors, and economical environment.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28.—Clay Helsel of this city has brought suit in the court of the justices of the peace here against Henry R. The plaintiff alleges his pet, which was as black as a raven, would easily have brought $150 in the open market.

Further, the plaintiff charges defendant with "wanton and malicious murder," shooting down his neighbor's cat while the animal was on neutral territory. Plaintiff asks damages, six per cent interest thereon until paid, and for all costs of action.

Women Register July 14.

MCALISTER, June 28.—Mrs. R. L. Fite, chairman of the national bureau of women's division, has notified officials here that a general registration will be held in Oklahoma City July 14. The advance states that registration books will open July 7 and remain open for two weeks.

Following the state-wide drive to register women, the democratic women's organizations will band together in an effort to bring out a 100 per cent vote, it was stated. A state meeting of the county chairwomen of the democratic bureau of education has been called early in July to consult with state delegates returning from the San Francisco convention.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28.—The first annual reunion of the Society of the Third Division will open on "Marne Day," July 15, at Chicago, according to circulars mailed from the headquarters of the society at Little Rock, Ark., and received by veterans of that division here. As the division was a regular army organization, its personnel is scattered over the country.

"Marne Day" was an important event in the Third division, as veterans of the division here explained, as it was on that day that the regiments of the division distinguished themselves by holding the Germans in check at Chateau Thierry. That day marked the second battle of the Marne, a turning point which followed the participation of Americans enforce in the war.

Oklahoma will be adequately represented at the convention by former Third division men of this state, according to Howard B. Hopps, commander of the Oklahoma City post of the American Legion.

MCALISTER, Okla., June 28.—The Oklahoma state penitentiary here, at the close of the fiscal year June 30, will have been operated within its appropriation for the first time in its history, according to figures of Fred C. Switzer, who took charge of the prison last July 1. Heretofore, the state legislature has been asked every year to appropriate a sum for deficit in operation, but this year Mr. Switzer has a surplus in his maintenance fund.

This surplus has been gained in spite of huge increases in the cost of everything needed at the penitentiary, and an increase in the number of prisoners. With $332,000 allowed for the year preceding Mr. Switzer's administration, the deficit was $38,000. Out of an appropriation of $320,000 allowed him regime, Mr. Switzer shows a surplus of $23,295. The 1919-1920 appropriation was made on the basis of 1,100 prisoners—January 1, 1919, although the number has averaged 1,200 since then. The total number of prisoners now in the prison is 1,380.

Stolen Car Identified.

By the Associated Press

FREDERICK, Okla., June 28.—Evidence purporting to show that a motor car seized when arrests were made for violation of the prohibition laws had been stolen in Fort Collins, Colo., along with a number of other automobiles, was brought out at the hearing in the case in county court here. Sheriff Cooke of Fort Collins, Laramie county, and M. G. Nelson, owner of the stolen car, identified the machine.

Prior to the theft of the Nelson car, eight other cars had been stolen from Fort Collins, the thief later being killed by a posse while attempting to escape, the evidence showed. That the gang of motor car thieves sold stolen machines through a "clearing house" in Denver, was brought out by Nelson and the sheriff during the trial.

The court decided the automobile was not subject to confiscation under the prohibition law and permitted Sheriff Cooke and Nelson to return to Fort Collins with it.

Golf Tournament Begins.

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 28.—Almos' a perfect course today awaited contenders in the invitation tournament of the Oklahoma City Golf and Country club, the qualifying rounds of which began this morning. Recent rains have put the grounds in excellent condition, it being the opinion of those who have played the round recently that the Oklahoma course never was in better shape for a big tournament.

The exact number of entries would not be known until today, officials of the club said, as entry could be made to within a half hour.

AS PATRIOTISM SUBSIDES

Every American will concede that national consciousness and patriotism reached the high water mark during the summer of 1918. Those were the days when the continents trembled beneath the tread of marching armies and golden stars were multiplying on the service flags of the nation.

Most Americans know that national consciousness and patriotism are at their lowest ebb today. Not within the memory of this generation has there been such a disposition to criticise every thing that bears the name of American. While few people care to admit the truth of this statement, most people know that it is the truth.

The warmest supporter that Senator Gore ever had does not believe that he could have carried a single township in Oklahoma in the summer of 1918. Every supporter that he has will concede that his chances for re-election have materially improved since 1918.

When all Oklahomans were patriotic, Gore never had a fighting chance. As Oklahomans become less patriotic, Gore's chances improve.

In the summer of 1918 there was not a city, town or village that would have permitted Gore to make a speech in favor of his re-nomination. The warmest friends he has today knows this is strictly true.

Not until the people of Oklahoma had a relapse in patriotism was Gore permitted to come back to Oklahoma and plead for re-election.

Gore's adherents bitterly resent the charge that their candidate was disloyal. Will they please explain to themselves why it is that as patriotism increases he becomes more unpopular and as patriotism subsides his chances become brighter.

What shall we say of the loyalty of any candidate who is strongest when patriotism is weakest?

It would be a fine thing for education in general and East Central Normal in particular if Dr. Perkins could be induced to remain as president of the normal here in Ada. Called to the head of the institution only one month ago to serve as president of the normal during the summer term only, Dr. Perkins has made a record unsurpassed by all the normal presidents of Oklahoma. He has shown himself a master of the position he now occupies. One who has been identified with the normal for many years has said that the school is now doing the best work of its history and that this condition is due to the direction of Dr. Perkins. His plans for going to Phillips University have been perfected for months and it is not probable that he would change them but it is most unfortunate that he cannot be retained at the head of East Central indefinitely.

In answer to the stereotyped story that Gore has been absent from a few thousand roll calls, the senator said in his Ada speech that for a long time he was dangerously ill and that for a part of the time he was lying unconscious. Now his campaign managers are saying that the senator was attending committee meetings and too busy at work to answer roll calls, while certain newspapers claim that he was campaigning twenty-one states for Woodrow Wilson. All of which expains the matter to our complete satisfaction.

Another proof that the fool killer has not been in Ada recently. A well known citizen of this section of the state was overheard to say the other day that he would not permit his boy to join the boy scouts—that the only accomplishments of the organization was to make thugs of the members. If that man's brains were dynamite, they wouldn't blow his hat off.

We enjoy a political shindig as much as any American that ever thought himself qualified to vote and shall participate in every scrimmage staged in our part of the U. S. A. At the same time we feel free to confess that we could not exchange one loyal friend for all the men who ever ran for the senate in the entire United States.

We know Major Kerr of Muskogee mighty well and have a whole lot of confidence in his veracity, but we are a wee bit leery of that story he tells of being the original discoverer of Warren G. Harding. We rather suspect that Boise Penrose had something to do with it.

The spirited race between Tennessee and North Carolina to see which state is to be the "thirty sixth" seems to have resolved itself into contest to see which state will let the other be first.

If living in a rented house is the only qualification Coolidge has, he is no better vice-presidential timber than half the denizens of Darktown.

PRO-GERMAN TO CHOOSE CABINET

Giovanni Giolitti.

Giovanni Giolitti, former premier of Italy, has been requested to form a new cabinet to succeed that of Francesco Nitti, which recently resigned. Giolitti was regarded as a pro-German during the war.

Tulsa World: But after the suffragists get suffrage what on earth are they going to suffer about then?

Duran Democrat: If we must have orators, why not require them to qualify by civil service tests.

Miami News: Those who urge Johnson to run on a third ticket may be progressives. And then again they may be democrats.

Shawnee News: General Wood seems to view with some concern the chances of republican success in the national campaign.

Miami News: Newberry may find consolation in the fact that there is no more profit in buying delegates than in buying votes direct.

Miami News: It seems odd that the party out of power is the only one that ever knows how a situation should be handled.

Chickasha Star: While the recent rains have doubtless damaged to some extent standing small grain, their beneficial effect on corn can hardly be estimated.

Tulsa World: We are almost forced to the opinion that Brother Harrison of the Ada News does not care for our editorial approving the Chicago platform and ticket.

Wagoner County Democrat: Last Friday evening a Scott Ferris club was organized at the court house with something over 200 members. Only four democrats in Wagoner refused to sign the roll, and three of them were for Freeing, who has withdrawn from the race.

Oklahoma City Times: What might have been a national disaster has been averted by the announcement of the railway wage board that its award will be announced on or before July 20. The terms of that award are unknown, but there is no doubt that it carries a considerable increase. And unauthorized strikes will become unpopular among the workers themselves after this announcement.

Hobart Republican: Strikes, outlaw and otherwise, are the curse of the country, and the people are getting to a point where they will refuse to be starved and frozen and otherwise deprived of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" just because a bunch of capitalists and laborers can't agree on salaries and working conditions. They may not realize it, but they are making a noose for their own necks.

Vinita Journal: Political organs of both parties are busy grinding out dope these days. They are either defending their candidates or lambasting the other party's candidates. Every campaign finds political organs becoming less popular and the people looking to the independent newspapers for the political news.

After reading the political happenings an opinion can be formed by the average voter without reading an editorial that gives only one side of the question.

Miami News: There are times when one must go far from home to get the news, and, it seems, the farther one gets the stranger tales of home he hears.

For example:

"The United States prohibition law, after a year of attempted rigid enforcement, has proved a joke."

The above was culled from the columns of the Cape Town (South Africa) Times.

Possibly, if you get still farther from the U. S. A., you will hear that the dry amendment has been revoked.

Moral: If you want home-town news, read home-town newspapers.

The climate of Liberia is the hottest on the globe.

Moonshine Booze Discovered Deep In a Sand Bar

The wettest sandbar on the South Canadian was discovered yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Claude Chandler and Special Enforcement Officer Joe Foster. They were looking for wet goods along the river and evidently knew where to look for buried deep down in a bar of sand and they found nine gallons of moonshine whiskey. Earl Morris, who was suspected of violating the federal bylaws of the prohibition movement, was arrested by the officers and was taken to Holdenville last night to talk to and with the United States commissioner.

There was nothing in the street
But a ragged organ man
Plodding through the dust and heat
In the traces of his van.

Wearily he stopped, and then
As he ground his noisy crank,
All the street was filled with men
Marching gaily, rank on rank.

Singing as they swung along
(Parted lips and catching breath)
Shouting the remembered song
They had flung at hell and death.

Pale young ghosts, clear-eyed and lean,
Turned aside and laughing dropped
Penies in the tambourine—
And the organ crashed and stopped.

There was nothing in the street
But a ragged organ man
Plodding through the dust and heat
In the traces of his van.

AN IMMIGRANT'S SON

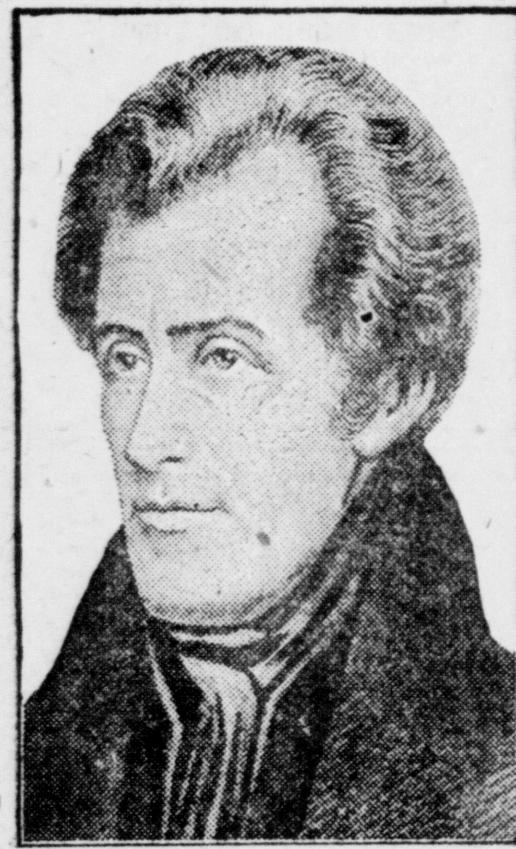

1767—March 15, Andrew Jackson born in Union county, N. C.
 1781—Taken prisoner by the British.
 1791—Married Mrs. Rachel Donaldson Robards.
 1806—Killed Charles Dickinson in a duel.
 1815—January 8, won the Battle of New Orleans.
 1817-18—Put down the Seminole Indians in Florida.
 1821—Governor of the territory of Florida.

ANDREW JACKSON, the unlettered backwoodsman, treading at the heels of John Quincy Adams, the most cultured in all the line, presents the sharpest contrast to be seen in the procession of presidents.

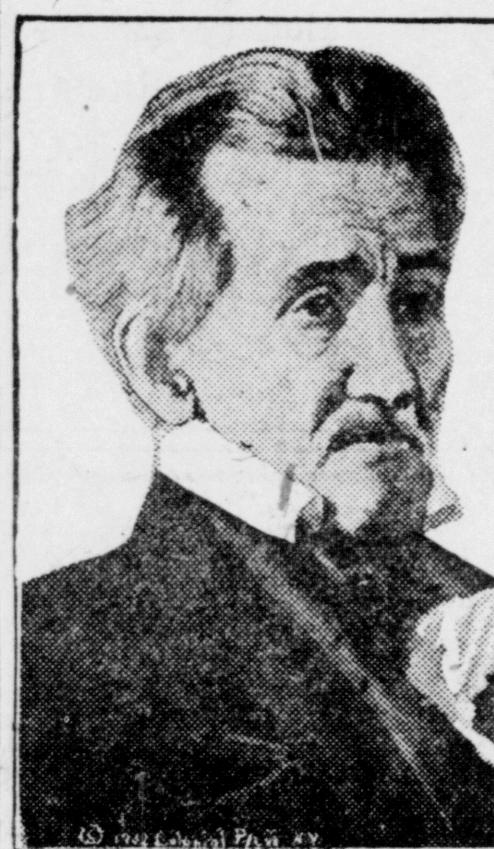

The first president born in a log cabin, Jackson could not claim as his own even that lowly dwelling in the North Carolina forest, but entered the world homeless and fatherless. Sprung from poor Irish immigrants, his parents had been in the country only two years when the father sank into an unmarked grave a few days before Andrew's birth, leaving his family without a roof or an acre.

No other among American leaders received from the War of Independence such legacy of bitter memories as it bequeathed to Jackson. That savage struggle between Whig and Tory swept away his brave mother and both of his brothers; scattered his kindred and left him, at fifteen, alone in the world.

A ragged, roving waif of the Revolution, he grew up as wild as a weed. With no hand above him, his high spirits led him into the temptations of his primitive world, whose social standards were 200 years behind the times. Drinking, carousing, gambling, cock fighting and horse racing, young Jackson never took a dare, the rustic sport once staking his horse and his all on a throw of the dice. A bully among rowdies, he went his roistering way along a road that is not to be laid down on the map of conduct as a course to the White House.

Andrew Jackson.

Andrew Jackson in Old Age.

As he rose from a chore boy and a saddler's apprentice to be a lawyer and a judge of the Supreme court of Tennessee, he cast aside the dissipations of his carefree youth, but he never lost the spirit of the clansmen or subdued his ungovernable temper.

A bare catalog of his quarrels and fights is too long to be given here. In most of them he was fired with the conviction that he was defending the name of his wife. This had been brought into question only by his own characteristic imprudence, when he fell in love with his landlady's daughter, while she was yet married to another, and when he rashly wed her without waiting to verify the mere rumor that her offended husband had obtained a divorce in a neighboring state. After two years of wedded life, the too hasty couple learned that the woman's first marriage had only just been dissolved and they had to make a spectacle of themselves as they went through another ceremony in order to be united in lawful bonds.

Because his own impulsive conduct had exposed his honest, devoted wife to the slanderous tongues of the gossips, Jackson was all the more sensitive to her sufferings. For sneering at her over a bar one man was stood up at 24 paces and shot to death by the avenging husband, who kept his pistol in perfect condition through 37 years, as Barton says, for anyone who dared breathe her name except in honor.

Even at the sober age of forty-six, Jackson plunged into a tavern brawl at Nashville with Thomas H. Benton, afterward the distinguished senator from Missouri, and was shattered for life by two balls and a slug which Benton's brother shot into his back. That was his last personal altercation. In a few weeks he was called from his bed of pain to take part in a public altercation between the United States and Great Britain and, with his arm still in a sling, he rose to do battle for

SLAYING DRAGONS

1828—Andrew Jackson elected president.
 1829—Inaugurated, seventh president, aged 61.
 1832—Vetoed bank bill suppressing nullification. Re-elected triumphantly.
 1833—Removed the bank deposits.
 1834-5—Brought France to terms.
 1837—Jackson retired.
 1845—June 8, death of Jackson, aged 78.

JACKSON'S administration stands forth in the half-century between Jefferson and Lincoln because of two measures. One of these was the overthrow of the United States bank.

That great institution, patterned after the Bank of England and the Bank of France, was an efficient but dangerous partner for a democratic government. It was a money monopoly which could make or break any enterprise in the country; it held in its grasp the financial life of America; it received and distributed all the revenues of the nation and half of its deposits were public moneys; but, with only a fifth of its directors appointed by the government, it was not under public control.

When Jackson began his audacious fight upon the bank, it was at the height of its power. Against heavy odds, he vetoed the bill for rechartering it; took his case to the people in his campaign for re-election, and scored a complete victory. On the strength of that popular verdict he removed the government deposits and left the bank to a slow and ignominious collapse.

For this action the senate censured him. After a bitter fight, in which

County Farmers Borrow Much Money Of The Loan Companies

You may be interested, perhaps, in knowing something about the money that was borrowed last year on the farms of Pontotoc County. The report of the year from January 1st, 1919 to December 31st, 1919, shows that a total of $335,700 was loaned by 14 loan companies on 23,845 acres of Pontotoc County land.

Borrowing money is not a matter of light concern but at the same time, it has helped many farmers to get on their feet. Conservative borrowing is to be commended.

The report is as follows:

	Amt. per	Acreage	Acre
Aurelius-Swanson	$ 6,950.00	660	10.07
William S. Hicks	$ 15,000.00	550	27.27
Deming Investment Co.	$ 15,000.00	1480	9.50
Dickerson-Reed-Randerson	$ 29,750.00	2100	14.16
Monarch Loan Company	$ 3,200.00	200	16.00
Maxwell Investment Company	$ 46,300.00	3585	12.81
Pioneer Mortgage Company	$ 7,500.00	260	28.84
Gum Brothers	$ 6,300.00	462	13.63
Interstate Mortgage Trust Co.	$ 11,400.00	510	22.03
Humphrey & Humphrey	$ 4,650.00	290	16.03
American Investment Company	$ 46,800.00	3120	15.00
Clement Mortgage Company	$ 47,775.00	2575	18.55
Oklahoma Farm Mortgage Co.	$ 27,100.00	1390	19.49
Conservative Loan Company	$ 105,300.00	6663	15.80
Grand Total	$335,700.00	23845	$16.92

of the states. Thus the two highest officials of the government joined issue across that dinner table on a question which great armies would fight out in another generation.

Two years afterward a convention in South Carolina solemnly adopted an ordinance nullifying the tariff act for that state and forbidding within the boundaries of the state the collection of customs duties under it. While recommending to congress a modification of the offending tariff, Jackson appealed to the patriotism of the South Carolinians in a proclamation which set all the North and much of the South ringing with cheers; ordered General Scott to the scene of threatened trouble; re-enforced the forts of the dissatisfied state; dispatched a naval fleet to Charleston harbor, and only waited for the first overt act of revolt to give him warrant for arresting Calhoun and the other leaders. But the nullifiers nullified their nullification, leaving the resolute and patriotic president riding a high tide of popular favor.

Jackson's pre-eminent service to the country was rendered in his battle with nullification. "The tariff was only the pretext," he said, "disunion and a southern confederacy the real object. The next pretext will be the negro." Thanks to him, that irrepressible conflict had been postponed 25 years, until a great West should grow up and join hands with the East in saving the Union.

Red Flag Is Hoisted

By the Associated Press

ROME, June 28.—Reports of disorder in widely separated parts of Italy appeared to corroborate the impression that they are part of a deep scheme to overthrow social order throughout the entire country. Unemployment is the alleged reason for the strikes now in progress and for rioting. At Cadore, Venetia, red flags have been hoisted above the municipal buildings, telegraph lines have been cut, and roads blocked with trees at Lazzo, Callazao and Doinego.

Who Said

"If I have any ambition, it is to enjoy as large a share of experience as this world can furnish."

The life of the man who uttered these words was devoted to acquiring all the experience it is possible to crowd into one's existence.

Printer, writer, traveler and diplomat, Bayard Taylor's life represented an all-around development that made his closing years rich in experience that was of great service to the United States when he became secretary to the American legation at St. Petersburg and later minister to Germany.

Bayard Taylor was born in Kennett Square, Chester county, Pennsylvania, January 11, 1825, and died in Berlin, Germany, December 19, 1878. He learned the trade of printer and became a contributor to various magazines. In 1844 and 1845 he made a pedestrian tour of Europe, and on his return published "Views Afoot in Europe." In this way he gained a place on the staff of The New York Tribune.

Later he resided in Germany for lengthy periods, and it was because of his knowledge that he was appointed minister to Berlin.

Perhaps You Are, Too

A friend of mine was worn out running around trying to buy a particular something-or-other.

Hours had been spent, also strength and temper, and the desired article had not been found.

I asked if a try had been made at such and such a store.

The reply was "No, of course not, they don't carry such things."

I disagreed. We went together and found what was wanted.

Reading advertisements is more than a time-saver; it's a good, safe investment in information concerning the best things the market affords.

My friend said: "How did you know?"

"Easy," I replied. "They advertised them last week."

The News Bible Lesson

1 Peter 3:1-8

Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives;

While they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear.

Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting of the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel;

But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price.

For after this manner in the old time the holy women also who, trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands:

Even as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord; whose daughters ye are as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any amazement,

Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honor unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.

Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous.

'PHONE SERVICE DEPENDS ON THE PLANT AND GIRLS

It is doubtful if any considerable number of telephone patrons in Ada realize just how fortunate they are, compared with other places, in the matter of telephone service—the thing on which busy people rely these days for the transaction of more than nine tenths of their business.

The local telephone plant at this place is equipped with the very latest and most modern devices to be had. Not only that but the offices where the girls work are cool and sanitary and everything that the management can do to make the employees comfortable, consequently efficient, is done by the local management.

Last, but by no means least, the local office is manned by a coterie of the prettiest, most courteous and best trained operators to be found west of the Mississippi River, according to a reporter who just recently inspected the local plant and who claims to have some experience looking around telephone offices.

In this connection it might be well to suggest that the way to get good service and courteous treatment is to be courteous yourself. In other words don't get "hard-boiled" with the central girls.

The girls' glee club met this afternoon in the Normal auditorium for their regular practice.

Hon Luther Harrison of Ada is to address the faculty and students Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

The Johnston county teachers held their meeting yesterday afternoon. Business and plans for a social was the purpose of the meeting.

Oklmulgee county students met yesterday afternoon at 1:15 and transacted business for their organization.

The male quartet will practice tonight. Those who compose this organization are: Miss Donna Belle Lee, pianist. Oscar Parker, Ira Rowe Early Emerson and Francis McCraken.

It is the request of the "Old Man" that all members of his family be present at the meeting tomorrow evening at 7:45. Plenty of eats and a lot of business.

Superintendent John T. Hefley made an address to the assembly this morning. Mr. Hefley will address the school again on tomorrow in the auditorium.

"It's this way," she confided, "each one of us girls has several phones to care for regularly. If we aren't busy attending to our own position we are helping out our fellow-workers who have too many calls, to give prompt service."

At present there are 32 operators in the local office. We handle on an average of 350 calls an hour on busy days to each operator."

The girls in the local office work hard, of course, but they only work fifty-four hours a week and when one is forced to work Sunday she gets a day off during the week.

"Everything possible is done for our comfort," said one of the young ladies who has been with the company for some time, "and we are all pleased with our jobs." And they really do look it.

Hospital Notes

The little son of Porter Walls of Ada was operated on yesterday for tonsilitis.

John Walker of Fitzhugh was operated on for appendicitis Sunday night and is reported doing well.

Mrs. R. R. Robinson is still improving.

Jewel Roundtree of Vanoss was operated on last night and is doing nicely today.

Next time you are in the hospital, read "The Doctor's Prayer." The article gives out some good suggestions. The thought is this: doctors minister to the needs of the sick to the best of their ability. Many times people forget that doctors are only human beings at best and need all the necessities of life. They try to pay the doctor with "I thank you." The doctor appreciates this but, as the article reads, it takes money to buy "prunes and gasoline."

It was autumn and the afternoon sun shone on fluttering pennants and bunting of varied hue that decked the palatial structures of the University of Umph.

Today was the day of all days—the day of the annual gridiron struggle between Umph and Shooosh.

The million dollar stadium gleamed in the autumn sun, while thousands of students and alumni crowded through the gates to their seats at $20 the seat.

Inside, the gridiron gladiators were listening to final instructions from their $50,000-a-year coaches.

On the curb outside the marble gateway was a line of ragged, wretched old men raising their piteous voices in their endeavors to eke out an existence by the sale of peanuts, pennants and chewing gum. "Who," asked a stranger, "who are those human derelicts? Who are those unfortunate creatures casting a blight on these noble surroundings? Who are those helpless wrecks starving in the midst of plenty?" "Them?" replied the freshman.

She's off to teach in the fall. Nine months of worn, then a summer more. And she comes to feel that excelsior is but saw-dust after all.

Perhaps she dreams of an evening date.

With debonair dudes or frats, But the summer school-marm, in aggregate, In her wilted, work-worn, weary state.

Makes the average male but ejaculate With fervor, "Suffering Cats."

For nine long months must the school-marm board.

Her pittance so strangely small, That eight weeks of school she may afford,

Buy clothes and pay for her room and board At 6.50 per—Green Terrace Hall.

Now certainly there should be a spot In the book called the "Black and Gold."

Where one may plant a forget-me-not For the girl who toils when the wind is hot.

And nothing else is cold. For let me whisper a secret true 'Tis then that the sky is the bluest blue.

And the sun is the golden gold.

A Song for the Summer School Students

I sing a song of the summer time Of a story seldom told.

For never indeed in prose or rhyme Does this tribe emerge in the light called lime.

In the book of the "Black and Gold."

Ah, there's no one at all to tell of the tale.

And there's not a tongue to praise The school-marm ambitious, that mad female.

Who follows hot on the knowledge trail.

In the blistering summer days.

She has no taste of the spring school fare,

KEEP MAN GUESSING SAYS AN OLD MAMMY

"Old Mammy" is one of the quaint characters in "The Inferior Sex," a picture starring Mildred Harris Chaplin and released by First National, which will be shown at the Liberty Theatre today.

The old negress had been oft married, and as she expressed it, "Four ob dem having promised to lub and obey me."

As the cook in the homes of the young married couple, she gives some wholesome advice to the wife, who spends all her time trying to please an indifferent husband.

"Keep him guessin'" said Old Mammy. "De onliest way to get along with men is to keep 'em happy. An de onliest way to make 'em happy is to make 'em unhappy. Keep 'em guessin' and dey will be unhappy and den dey'll lub yo and be happy."

Alleged Poker Game Is Disrupted by City Officers

Some eight or ten more or less prominent citizens were raided by the city police on suspicion of being engaged in a poker game. There was nothing to indicate the presence and progress of such game except that they were operating behind closed doors despite the humid weather and had in their possession and proximity four dozen decks of cards, a case of poker chips, and various scented bottles. The company assembled refused to admit the police into the inner circle unless a search warrant should be produced, which attitude produced a temporary delay. A member of the sheriff's force was routed out of bed and a search warrant, manufactured, after which the officers entered and conveyed all occupants of the premises to the police station where bond was made by several.
